

QUEEN'S ELM ARTISTS A Chelsea Renaissance

*'Once in a while the odd thing happens. Once in a while the dream comes true
- WH Auden*

Queues formed outside Chelsea's famous landmark the former Queen's Elm public house, once the swinging sixties watering hole of artists such as Francis Bacon and Laurie Lee, at the inaugural launch of the Queen's Elm Artists on 16th July.

Over 600 guests witnessed this Chelsea Renaissance, including Jacqueline Bisset and Anita Harris. Painter, Clive Dunn of Dad's Army fame, showed his work in a group exhibition of Colourist paintings and sculpture, with live music presented by jazz singer Katy Christie and her string quartet.

Bursting with artistic endeavour this diverse group of artists range from 16 to 93 years of age. Curated by the artists themselves the work is bold, sensual and entirely visual. This is art you can enjoy and fall head over heels in love with, there is no dealer or gallerist aiming to profit from their work. It's art for art's sake.

Backed by the Sloane Stanley Estate, this showcase for established and emerging new talent, will be hosting monthly exhibitions including music recitals sponsored by Entryphone®, fashion shows, literary salons and performance art.

Don't miss this collection of highly talented artists, musicians, poets and thinkers.

Open Monday to Saturday by appointment. For further information contact: Simon Tarrant at info@queenselmartists.com or +447711335350
